

The new APS-C cameras in the test

Fujifilm, Canon and Nikon are updating their APS-C models. The focus of the models is primarily on speed. We pit Fujifilm X-H2S and Canon EOS R7 against each other and test what Nikon's Z 30 has to offer.

Special tripods in the test

Up to here and even further: when your classic tripod reaches its limits, you need a specialist for extremes. Professional photographer Michael Jordan has tested niche tripods that save unusual photo situations.

Mega focal length

Wildlife photographers need long focal lengths, but these are extremely expensive and unaffordable for many amateur photographers. We tested inexpensive and lightweight models from Canon and Nikon with up to 800 millimetres.

Architectural photography on the move

When you travel, photography brings you closer to other cultures and ways of life. Architecture in particular reveals the differences and similarities to those we are familiar with. We give you tips on how to set the scene for buildings while travelling..

Light screen pictures from the 3D printer

You can present your photographs in an impressive way with a light image. All you need is a cheap 3D printer and free prelims. Our guide will help you over the hurdles.
