The year is drawing to a close once again and it's time to take care of the next photo calendar. The best motifs from the last photo season, favourite memories or family trips want to be immortalised. But which calendar is right for which occasion? We take a look at various offers and compare the quality.

New cameras in the test

Just in time for autumn, a number of manufacturers have presented new models, some of which photographers have been eagerly awaiting. One example is Canon's EOS R5 II or the successor to the "little" sister of Fujifilm's GFX 100S medium format camera. We test what the new generation can do.

Buy used cameras and lenses

Cameras and lenses don't always have to be new. If you buy second-hand, you are on the safe side if you go to a dealer who also offers a warranty. We spoke to various online and specialised dealers on site to find out how the circular economy works in the camera market.
